

Look at them. Thinking so highly of themselves, speaking English and going out. I walk around , multi-coloured and running free. Why would they want to sit around instead of playing outside?

Losers.

They're always prancing around on their two feet, without a care in the world. They get to drink water out of cups, eating at a dinner table.

Who would want that?

Well...I would.

BUT I also like to run free catching birds and mice, being care free and not ever having any stress on me. I am fed everyday and get to sleep with my owner, I probably have the BEST! life around eh?

Yeah, you do.
